AVANT-PROPOS.

NOUS avons reçu les compliments les plus flatteurs et les encouragements les plus précieux à l'occasion des quatre précédents volumes, importante collection des «Homélies choisies» de Jacques de Saroug. Aussi nous sommes-nous senti porté à continuer l'édition de ces œuvres si belles, hélas! cachées depuis quatorze siècles. Les Nestoriens, par haine fanatique de l'auteur, avaient privé nos pays d'une aussi précieuse richesse; les Monophysites eux-mêmes l'ont négligée. A l'Église catholique reviendra la gloire d'avoir mis en lumière la perle cachée par l'intermédiaire d'un humble fils de St. Vincent de Paul.

Avant d'expliquer les motifs pour lesquels nous avons cru devoir interrompre cette publication, qu'il nous soit permis de citer ici les appréciations de personnages aussi dignes que compétents sur cette Collection si importante: plus de quatre mille deux cents pages du V^e siècle paraissant éditées pour la première fois! Des 195 homélies que nous donnons en effet, une dizaine seulement ont été publiées avant nous.

Mossoul, le 6 septembre 1907.

Mon très Révérend Père.

J'ai reçu les deux exemplaires du troisième volume des «Homélies de Mar Jacob de Saroug» que vous m'avez adressés. Je vous suis très reconnaissant de votre envoi: car, vous le savez, rien ne m'est plus cher que de voir publier les écrits de nos auteurs et de les lire. Aussi est-ce avec une indicible satisfaction que je parcours tous les jours ces délicieux poèmes, chefs-d'œuvre d'élévation. Et c'est grâce à la peine que vous prenez que nous pouvons jouir du précieux héritage laissé par nos illustres aïeux, et dont nous avons été si longtemps complètement privés. Merci donc, mon Révérend Père, au nom de toutes les nations araméennes qui célèbrent à l'envi vos louanges et votre zèle pour la propagation des richesses de la littérature de nos Pères.

Rome, le 8 juin 1908.

Très Révérend Père Bedjan.

J'ai reçu, il y a quelques jours, le 4e volume de Mar Jacob de Saroug, que votre très révérendissime Paternité a eu l'extrême bonté de m'envoyer. Avant de vous en écrire, j'ai voulu lire une bonne partie du volume, afin d'admirer la beauté des compositions du célèbre écrivain syrien, et de pouvoir vous remercier avec cette ardeur plus grande qui provient de l'appréciation de l'importance du cadeau. C'est ce que je fais en ce moment, en vous remerciant vivement du don si agréable de ce volume dans lequel j'ai trouvé des homélies vraiment admirables qui font les délices du lecteur.

Merci mille et mille fois, mon bon Père Bedjan. Avec les expressions de ma reconnaissance j'offre mes plus sincères félicitations à votre très révérendissime Paternité, qui, sans relâche, travaille dans la vigne du Seigneur, opérant efficacement le bien de l'Église, et spécialement pour le progrès littéraire, moral et religieux des Orientaux.

Ug. professeur.

Nous avions le désir très sincère de continuer l'œuvre considérable ainsi entreprise, et malgré ce désir cependant il nous a fallu y surseoir, pour nous occuper de publications plus urgentes.

Telle, par exemple, la publication des œuvres d'Isaac de Ninive. Cet évêque qui vivait au VII[e] siècle, a laissé en chaldéen des écrits importants qui, s'ils ont été traduits et publiés dans plusieurs langues, ne l'ont pas été dans celle même où ils avaient été écrits.

En étudiant très attentivement les diverses éditions de Rome et de Londres, d'Orient et d'Occident, nous avons constaté que ces écrits avaient été falsifiés; nous avons pu heureusement en trouver le texte authentique, et aussitôt nous l'avons donné par amour pour la vérité, pour le bien des âmes aussi. Voici à ce sujet ce que nous avons reçu:

Roma, 7 Feb. 1909.

I nostri più sentiti e speciali ringraziamenti per la continuazione dei suoi importantissimi e preziosi doni.

Il prefetto della bib. vat. F. EHRLE, S. J.

Et encore:

Mossoul, le 13 mars 1909.

Bien cher et Vénéré Monsieur.

Je viens de recevoir deux beaux exemplaires d'«Isaac de Ninive» une des plus grandes illustrations de notre diocèse de Mossoul. Il ne serait pas trop haut placé, si nous le mettions à côté de Sahdona, dont il a la forme du style et la délicatesse de la pensée. Cette œuvre est une des plus remarquables que vous ayez publiées, je vous en exprime toutes mes félicitations.

Entre temps, et tout en nous occupant d'Isaac de Ninive, évêque nestorien, nous étudiions Nestorius lui-même dans «le Livre d'Héraclide», son ouvrage unique. On en avait déjà beaucoup parlé, mais malheureusement sans en bien connaître le texte, ni en saisir le vrai sens et la vraie portée. Nous en avons donc donné une édition très soignée, que nous avons en même temps traduite et éditée en français avec l'aide d'écrivains compétents, afin que les savants puissent mieux en juger.

Voici d'ailleurs ce que nous écrivait de cette publication le même personnage:

Janvier, 1910.

Très Révérend Père.

J'ai reçu «Nestorius», je vous en remercie infiniment et vous félicite de la belle préface qui le précède et de l'appendice qui le couronne si bien. Votre travail jette une nouvelle lumière sur l'histoire de Nestorius . . . . . J'applaudis à votre conclusion: «Nestorius est «donc un hérétique avéré et justement condamné; et notre temps, «comme les temps qui nous ont précédés, ne peut l'excuser.»

S. arch.

Un missionnaire de l'Assyrie nous écrit le 21 janvier 1910: «J'ai «reçu il y a 2 jours votre préface du livre d'Héraclide et vous en «adresse toute ma reconnaissance.»

«Très bien présentée au point de vue doctrinal et très bien docu«mentée, cette préface fait connaître parfaitement toutes les variations «et l'endurcissement plein d'orgueil de cet homme dont l'hérésie a causé «tant de dommages à l'Église de Dieu en Orient.»

J. R.

Une fois achevées ces publications d'«Isaac de Ninive» et du «Livre d'Héraclide» dans l'intérêt de la vérité, nous avons eu le loisir de reprendre à nouveau la continuation des «Homélies choisies» de Mar Jacob de Saroug, dans un cinquième volume qui nous paraît être aussi important que les quatre qui l'ont précédé.

Il comprend 49 homélies, dont une seule, page 180, est une réédition; les 48 autres paraissent toutes pour la première fois.

Afin de compléter les unes par les autres, nous avons fait beaucoup et de sérieuses recherches, et grâce à nos efforts patients, nous avons pu réussir, excepté pour une des plus importantes, l'homélie sur Job. Malgré toute notre bonne volonté et notre désir, nous n'avons pu compléter le texte de cette dernière. On en verra les défectuosités de la page 262 à la page 268; on verra même à la page 282 qu'une feuille entière semble manquer. Cette pièce sur Job (157ème) ne se trouve qu'à Londres, dans trois Manuscrits et encore tous trois incomplets. Il y a aussi dans l'homélie 168 «sur le trésor enfoui» p. 494, quelque chose qui laisse à désirer, en raison de quelques passages illisibles. Nous disons la même chose sur l'homélie 178, p. 694—704 et l'homélie 180, p. 732, que nous n'avons pas pu vérifier sur d'autres Mss.

Voici la liste des homélies de ce Vème volume, suite de celles des 4 premiers, avec l'indication des Manuscrits originaux:

[1] Un fragment de cette homélie, p. 64, l. 9—p. 74, l. 10 se trouve à Londres, add. 14,670, f. 26—29, du VIIe ou VIIIe siècle.

(1) T. II, p. 197.
(2) Voir plus bas la note consacrée à ce titre p. XIV, 6°.

(1) Luc. 20, 29. (2) Pêche miraculeuse. Joan. 21, 14.

Qu'il nous soit permis d'ajouter à cette liste quelques courtes explications qui aideront efficacement à comprendre certains passages de ces homélies.

1° Les quatre homélies sur Caïn et Abel 147—150, embrassent tout le sujet et l'achèvent, pour passer à un autre de plus d'envergure; nous sommes portés à croire qu'il s'agit de la grande homélie sur le Déluge, publiée déjà par nous au commencement du IVe volume. Voici d'ailleurs les deux strophes dernières de la 4ème homélie qui y font allusion p. 60—61: ܥܕܡܐ ܠܡܫܬܥܝܘ ܕܡܒܘܠܐ ܡܟܝܠ ܗܘܐ ܫܠܡ ܠܟ: ܩܘܡ ܡܢ ܗܪܟܐ ܘܩܪܘܒ ܠܗܘܢ ܒܫܬܥܝܬܐ ܀ ܐܝܟ ܡܢܐ ܐܡܪܬ ܕܒܝܬܐ ܕܡܫܬܥܝܢ ܒܬܫܥܝܬܐ: ܕܢܗܘܐ ܐܡܝܢ ܠܟ ܫܘܒܚܐ ܘܩܘܒܠܐ ܕܬܘܕܝܬܐ.

2° Les quatre homélies qui suivent, 151—154 sur Sodome, semblent au contraire ne pas épuiser toute la matière; on dirait que vers la fin de la quatrième, l'auteur pose les bases d'une cinquième. Nous avons fait des recherches à ce sujet, mais sans résultat. Voici le passage qui semble indiquer l'existence d'une nouvelle pièce, p. 152: ܕܢܥܒܪ ܗܟܢܐ ܡܢ ܫܘܪܝܐ ܗܘܐ ܡܠܬܐ ܐܬܬ: ܘܟܠ ܫܘܚܠܦ ܠܗ ܡܘܕܥܢܘܬܗ ܕܡܠܬܐ ܕܟܠܗ ܡܫܬܥܝܢܐ. ܐܡܪܐ ܡܫܬܥܝܐ ܕܐܡܪ ܥܕܡܐ ܠܟܠܗ ܫܘܪܝܐ.

3° L'homélie 156e, p. 180, est composée à la manière des œuvres de St. Ephrem, en vers heptasyllabiques. Dans quelques Manuscrits, elle précède la grande homélie de Mar Jacob sur Job; les uns l'attribuent au diacre d'Edesse, les autres à l'évêque de Saroug. A ne considérer que la méthode de ce dernier, qui fait ordinairement précéder ses homélies d'une longue préface, on pourrait douter qu'il soit l'auteur de l'homélie 157, où pareille préface fait défaut; mais, par ailleurs, nous ne voyons pas davantage l'heptasyllabe dans ses homélies; peut-être, et nous inclinons à le croire, les copistes les ont-ils mises eux-mêmes ensemble. Dans tous les cas, nous avons en cela suivi les Manuscrits les plus importants du Musée Britannique sur cette matière.

4° L'homélie 157[e], p. 202, prend son importance de ce qu'elle a comme sujet le livre de Job tout entier. Nous en avons trouvé les parties principales dans trois Manuscrits de Londres. De la page 262 à la p. 268, il y a quelques lacunes et quelques parties effacées; une feuille manque même à la p. 272; il nous a été impossible de combler ces passages vides et nous n'avons point voulu d'ailleurs ajouter inutilement les pages défectueuses pour quelques mots isolés; les 89 pages que nous avons, contiennent bien les épisodes principaux de la vie du saint patriarche.

5° L'homélie 159, p. 306, a pour objet l'histoire de Jephté, juge d'Israël, qui délivra son peuple du joug des Ammonites; on connaît le vœu célèbre par lequel il consacra imprudemment à l'immolation le premier être vivant qui viendrait au-devant de lui après sa victoire; ce fut sa fille. La sacrifia-t-il réellement ou la consacra-t-il seulement au service du Tabernacle? notre auteur est absolument de la première opinion.

6° L'auteur parle longuement dans l'homélie 161, p. 355, de la chute des élus; il confond ceux qui, comme Samson, Saül, Salomon, ayant été choisis par Dieu, sont tombés, n'ayant point jusqu'à la fin répondu à leur vocation, avec les élus au vrai sens du mot, prédestinés à la béatitude éternelle. La chute des premiers est évidente, celle des derniers est inadmissible (cf. Marc, 13, 22). Le mot ܓܒ̈ܝܐ s'emploie indifféremment pour les deux sens:

choisis, élus; d'où la confusion et l'inexactitude du titre de l'homélie.

7° L'auteur prétend dans l'homélie 161, p. 364, et dans l'homélie 163, p. 416—418, que Dieu punit Isaïe de la perte du don de prophétie, pour n'avoir pas repris le roi Ozias qui, voulant usurper le sacerdoce, fut frappé de la lèpre. Une si grave accusation au compte du grand prophète, n'est basée que sur une interprétation plus qu'arbitraire du texte suivant: «In anno quo mortuus est Ozias, «vidi Dominum sedentem super solium» (Isaïe, 6, 1). Voir page 418. Parce que la sublime vision du Trisagion a eu lieu l'année de la mort d'Ozias, Isaïe aurait été puni avant cette époque! Barhebræus et d'autres auteurs suivent néanmoins cette opinion insoutenable.

8° L'homélie 162 sur le roi David et Urias, est par endroits fautive au point de vue de l'orthodoxie théologique. Par ex., à la p. 374, nous lisons au sujet de David: «Dieu l'a abandonné sans secours parce qu'il fût «tenté; il n'a pas pu résister dans le combat de la justice. «La grâce s'est retirée de lui, il a succombé, et il fut «l'esclave des passions dégradantes.» Dieu permet bien que nous soyons tentés, et que nous puissions nous rendre indignes de grâces de choix, mais il ne nous abandonne jamais entièrement et ne nous prive jamais entièrement de la grâce. Il faut dans des questions d'une gravité aussi délicate, demeurer toujours dans la vérité de la foi.

9° Dans l'homélie 171, p. 558, nous relevons encore une allusion inexacte, et peut-être un manque sérieux à l'orthodoxie. Si par le cœna magna, l'auteur entend l'Eglise comprenant les bons et les mauvais, ou s'il veut parler des corps qui tous également reposent jusqu'à la résurrection générale, il est dans le vrai. Il ne l'est plus, et tombe dans une grossière erreur condamnée par l'Eglise, s'il veut dire par là que les élus et les damnés, après la mort, demeureraient ensemble à jouir d'un pareil avantage, par ex. du paradis terrestre, jusqu'à la fin du monde, et s'il croit qu'alors seulement les élus seront reçus dans le ciel, et les damnês précipités dans les ténèbres.

10° Dans l'homélie 178, p. 687, et plus particulièrement p. 690—695, l'auteur a l'air de vouloir faire un reproche aux apôtres d'avoir été à la pêche après la passion et la résurrection de N. S., comme si cette action était un acte de découragement et un retour en arrière. Nous lui répondrons tout simplement en lui citant les paroles de St. Grégoire le grand sur cet évangile: «Quæri etenim «potest, cur Petrus, qui piscator ante conversionem fuit, «post conversionem ad piscationem rediit: et cum veritas «dicat: Nemo mittens manum suam ad aratrum, et aspiciens «retro, aptus est regno Dei: Cur repetiit quod dereli«quit? . . . . quia nimirum negotium, quod ante conver«sionem sine peccato exstitit, hoc etiam post conversionem «repetere culpa non fuit. Nam piscatorem Petrum, «Matthæum vero telonearium scimus: et post conversionem «suam ad piscationem Petrus rediit, Matthæus vero ad «telonei negotium non resedit.» (Brev. Rom. Hom. XXIV, in evang. Feria IV infra Oct. Paschae.)

11° Dans l'homélie 180, p. 731 l'auteur parle, comme tous les ecrivains orientaux, de la conversion de la ville d'Edesse comme ayant eu lieu immédiatement après

l'Ascension de N. S. M. Duval, dans son livre de «la litterature syriaque» soutient que la prédication par Addaï et la conversion du roi Abgar n'a eu lieu que dans la seconde partie du II siecle, en s'appuyant surtout sur des anachronismes qui ont été plus tard interpolés dans ce récit par des ecrivains maladroits. Sans attaquer personne, qu'il nous soit permis de faire ici les reflexions suivantes.

a) Dès le Martyre de St. Etienne, le christianisme a paru florissant à Antioche, capitale de l'Orient. «Apposita est multa turba Domino.» (act. 11, 24); b) St. Paul, après sa conversion à Damas, ses travaux à Antioche et dans les environs, a opéré des merveilles dans l'Asie Mineure. «Non solum Ephesi, sed pene totius Asiæ Paulus «hic suadens avertit multam turbam» (act. 19, 26); c) la tradition parle de St. Thomas comme apôtre de la Perse et des Indes; d) la même source donne St. Barthélemi comme apôtre de l'Arménie; il aurait été martyrisé à Albak; son eglise principale est en effet à Albak, en Turquie, à 50 Kilom. de Khosrova en Perse; e) lors de la ruine de Jérusalem par les romains en 70, les juifs Chrétiens très nombreux en Palestine, émigrèrent en Mésopotamie, en Asie-Mineure et en Perse; f) Edesse a toujours été regardée, après Antioche, comme la metropole de l'Orient qui a répandu le christianisme en Perse. Tout le monde sait que la célèbre université pour la Perse et la Mésopotamie était à Edesse jusque vers la fin du V^e^ siècle; c'est le nestorianisme qui a amené la séparation de la Perse d'avec cette ville. Pour toutes ces raisons, nous sommes portés à croire que le christianisme a pénétré à Edesse dès les temps apostoliques.

12° A la fin de l'homélie 181, sur St. Georges, p. 770, l'auteur dit: «O saint, je n'ai pas de prétention sur le «royaume, je n'en suis pas digne; je supplie de ne pas «être livré aux flammes. Entre le paradis et l'enfer il y «a une place, que le bon Dieu me l'accorde par votre «intercession.»

ܠܐ ܠܡܠܟܘܬܐ ܡܣܒܪ ܐܢܐ ܡܛܠ ܕܠܐ ܫܘܐ ܐܢܐ: ܕܒܢܘܪܐ ܗܘܕܐ ܠܐ ܢܫܬܕܐ ܡܬܟܫܦ ܐܢܐ܀
ܐܝܬ ܠܗ ܐܬܪܐ ܒܝܬ ܡܠܟܘܬܐ ܘܠܓܗܢܐ: ܒܝܢܬ ܐܠܗܐ ܢܬܘܡܢܝ ܛܒܐ ܒܨܠܘܬܟ܀

Si l'auteur veut parler du purgatoire, il est dans le vrai; mais s'il prétend qu'il y a un état permanent, intermédiaire entre le ciel et l'enfer, pour les chrétiens baptisés, il est dans l'erreur.

13° Dans l'homélie 189, p. 804, et plus particulièrement p. 814—816, l'auteur semble prendre trop au pied de la lettre ces paroles de N. S.: «Quicumque ergo humiliaverit «se sicut parvulus iste, hic est major in regno cœlorum,» (Matth. 18, 4), comme si un enfant qui quitte ce monde avec la robe de son innocence baptismale, sans aucun mérite personnel, était plus haut placé dans le ciel que les saints qui ont travaillé et pratiqué la vertu. N. S. propose l'enfant comme modèle de l'humilité de la même manière qu'il nous propose la colombe comme modèle de simplicité. (Matth. 10, 16.)

14° Enfin, peut-être serait-il ici à propos de dire quelque chose des neuf homélies de Mar Jacob sur Joseph; elles se trouvent dans le Ms. de Rome 117, f. 413—435, nous les avons fait photographier, mais nous n'avons pu les recopier, tant elles sont illisibles. Nous avions déjà publié en appendice à notre «Liber superiorum» l'histoire de Joseph par Narsaï, d'après un Ms. de Mésopotamie.

Or il advint que des gens de ce pays nous écrivirent pour réclamer, en disant que ce poème n'était point digne de l'ecrivain nestorien. Par une photographie prise des homélies de Mar Jacob sur Joseph, dans le Ms. 135 d'Oxford, f. 395ᵃ—410ᵇ, nous avons constaté que précisément c'étaient les mêmes que nous avions vues attribuées à Narsaï. Puisque d'autre part nous avons évidemment dans le Ms. de Rome 117, les neuf homélies authentiques de Mar Jacob, nous devons dire que les autres ne sont qu'un apocryphe. D'ailleurs le style seul dit assez qu'elles ne sont point sorties de la plume de l'évêque de Saroug. Nous devions cette mise au point à la vérité, dans l'intérêt seul de laquelle nous voulons travailler, et pour prévenir les erreurs des autres.
